BOWLING BROOK WON THE BELMONT.

THE RACE RUN IN A VIOLENT TEMPEST. Yesterday was the third anniversary of the death of John A. Morris, the founder of Morris Park. He was the breeder of Bowling Brook, the winner of Belmont, who is by Ayrshire, out of Vacation. This breeding is a union of one of the leading male lines of blood in the English stud book with one of the leading female lines of the American stud book. The presence of Bowling Brook and The Friar on the turf may be attributed to a discussion on breeding which took place at Menmouth Park several years ago between John A. Morris, D. D. Withers and John Mackey, the manager of J. B. Withers and John Mackey, the manager of J. B.

Haggin's Rancho del Paso. D. D. Withers remarked that he intended to purchase either a son or a grandson of Hampton to use for marse by Uncas and Tom Ochiltree, and expected to get the best racehorses in America as the results of the post of Hampton blood with the blood of the long. nion of Hampton blood with the blood of the longdistance racing families of this country. It is well nown to turfmen that Mr. Withers sent six mares to Tom Ochiltree, anticipating that at least one-half the produce would be filles. But all the mares had coit foals, and every one of them raced suc-cessfully. Mr. Withers afterward purchased Eothen, a horse of Hampton blood, that was the of Requital and other high-class runners. John A. Morris told Mr. Withers that he would breed his own stres, and would ship some of his best mares to England and breed them to the leading English sires, and get racehorses as good as any in England. The experiments of Mr. Morris gave to the American turf The Friar, Bowling Brook, Casseopia, Lambent, Mirthful and other horses have captured honors at the meetings in this Bowling Brook's victory in the Belmont yesterday astounded even the veterans of the turf. the Morris scarlet was seen to keep on even terms with the copper, silver and green of Marcus Daly surprise was manifested everywhere. Hamburg appeared to have lost the meteorike flight of speed which made him so formidable last year. Bowling Brook simply smothered Previous and Hamburg. Brook simply smothered Frevious and Hamours, and romped home in the easiest possible manner. The Belmont plate which goes with the stakes will be presented to Mrs. John A. Morris.

James R. Keene's horses are now at Sheepshead Bay. They will be trained by Frank Brown, who trained so successfully for Mr. Keene last year.
There is a demand for horses that have shown form in public races. Agents of Western stables are in the market for the purpose of purchasing runners to take part in the meetings to be held at Chicago and at other Western tracks.
The weather was so stormy that many trainers were unable to ship their stables to Gravesend yesterday. Owing to the lack of transportation facililies some of the stables will be compelled to wait

BETTING ON COMING PRIZEFIGHTS. There was some talk about little men at the Gilsey House last night, and quite a lot of money was placed in the hands of "Al." Smith to back the opinions. "Parson" Davies, of Chicago, and "Joe" Vendig discussed the merits of "Jimmy" Barry, of Chicago, and Casper Leon, of this city, who meet in a twenty-round bout before the Lenex Athletic Club next Monday night. The "Parson," who is manager and backer of Earry, overheard Vendig asserting that Barry could not make 110 Vendig asserting that Harry could not make Ho-pounds at the ringside and be strong, and imme-diately offered to wager that the Chicago boy would not be an ounce over the weight. This talk led to the respective merits of the men being dis-cussed, and the offer on the part of bavies to bet $560 to $00 that Barry will defeat Loon, $550 to $400 that Leon won't stay the twenty rounds, and $500 to $400 that Barry knocks Leon out in ten rounds. Vendig accepted all the bets.

Day programme of the New-Jersey Athletic Club are causing much commotion in athletic circles, for it expected that several world's records will be oken. The half-mile run will have as starters T. E. Burke, of Harvard University; J. H. Mechlin, of the University of Pennsylvania, and J. Orton. of Pennsylvania. Burke is moving in record-breaking time just now, yet, from present indications, he will have to run faster to get home before Mechlin. In a private trial a few days ago Mechlin suc-Long, of the New-York Athletic Cub has entered in the 300-yard run, and is sure he will defeat the entire field. He will have as competitors Tewkes-bury, the Pennsylvania flyer; Rush, of Princeton, and probably Bernard J. Wefers.

terday at the Dyker Meadow links, near Fort Hamilton. Forty-two men took part in the qualifying round, and, considering the weather that prevailed, the Tournament Committee was more than pleased at the result. There were eighty or more players tramped through a soaking rain for several hours usidered a high tribute to the reputation of the Dyker Meadow course. As far as the play concerned, it was spirited and energetic throughout. Some of the competitors found it hard work to keep their footing on the muddy tees, but for all that, a number of the scores were excellent. A. De Witt Cochrane, who entered from St. Andrews, but who is better known as an Ardsley player, established a new record of 89 for the course, while Walter J. Travis, who won the Knollournament last week, was only one stroke

Travis has had some experience with the links in that he would be top man, but he was weak on his putting, and in several instances, notably on seventh green, he fiddled away an extra stroke in holing out. A brilliant three on the eighth hole, however, somewhat retrieved his score. Still, he and Cochrane were so far ahead of the others as almost to constitute a class by themselves. Travis's

Match-play scores of this kind are not convincing, but Travis's first round in 43 would, if made in medal play, have been the record for that distance. Baker, of St. Andrews, was beaten by Forrest, a Philadelphia player, who made his first appearance on the Metropolitan Golf Association links at Lakewood in April. But the surprise of the afternoon was the victory of H. G. Leavitt over George Armstrong, the veieran Staten Islander. There was a dispute as to their score, which was all even on the home green, and, acting under the avice of the Greens Committee, an extra hole was played, which Leavitt won. Cochrane disposed of Grant, the Alken man, rather easily. He finished 7 up, with five to go. The other results are given in the summary. The drawings in the Dyker Meadow Cup division to-day are Travis with Forest, Smith with Cochrane, Leavitt with Channey, and Maharub with Morten. In the Consolation class the pairings are Van Brunt with Carnegle, Ottonnor with J. Tajot, C. M. Hamilton with Riggs and W. H. Crittenden with W. B. Crittenden. The summary.

housekeeper and her mental condition exaggerated by the service of a writ of dispossession, Mrs. Annie G. Oliver, thirty-five years of age, of No. 321 West Seventeenth-st., committed suicide yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor. The woman's husband is a painter and has worked in Washington Square for the last twenty years. The couple had three children.

When Oliver went to work early yesterday morning he told his wife to pack most of their goods up in readiness to move on June 1. Mrs. had had several quarrels with the housekeeper over trivial affairs and these preyed on her mind. When the writ of dispossession was served yes-terday her melancholy increased. As her husband was leaving the house she said that she intended to keep the children at home, as it was raining too hard for them to go to school. Ten-year-old Alice told the police last night that after dinner her mother sat crying for a long time. Then she sent the children into another room, telling them that she did not want to be bothered. Soon the children she did not want to be bothered. Soon the children heard a noise in the room they had left, and saw their mother lying on the floor. She had evidently cut her throat and leaned over a washtub to prevent the blood from getting on the floor. She was dead when a doctor arrived.

Oliver told the detectives that his wife had often, in spells of melancholy, threatened to commit suicide, and usually he had carried his razor to work with him, as she had frequently expressed a determination to cut her throat.

IN THE CYCLING WORLD.

The troubles of the race promoters continue to increase, and some people are of the opinion that after Monday the situation may become so complicated that several retirements may be announced. This condition of affairs was predicted in these clumps more than a month ago. It was pointed out that no sport would be able to stand constant conflict of dates and interests, and that the promoters who were encouraging these conflicts and the members of the Racing Board of the League of American Wheelmen who granted the conflicting sanctions would have serious trouble before the season was well advanced. War talk and war taxes make a difference in many things, and wheelmen can this year hardly of the mails in rural districts. The idea had appealed favorably to many leading men, and was disapproved of only by a few who surmised that the bleyele might be too much at the mercy of the weather to become a reliable mail carrier. All such objections appear to be fully met by the advocates of inclosed gearing, the running parts of which are beyond the reach of rain or mud. The speed of the bicycle and the light cost of maintaining the cycling mail route would seem to make it infinitely preferable to horse service for at least eight months of the year in Northern sections of the country and through the entire twelve months in such other sections as are blessed with fair roads.

PROMINENT AMATEURS WHO HAVE VOL UNTEERED FOR THE WAR.

Many athletes who have won fame on the track and field are ready to serve their country in the war with Spain. Nearly half a hundred college and other well-known amateurs have gone to join Roosevelt's rough riders, and many more would go if they had the opportunity. Down at Camp Black may be seen many faces which were familiar at the indoor athletic meets last winter. Major Thurston, who is with the 22d Regiment, acted as the announcer at the athletic meet held at the armory, and astonished every one with his wonderful voice. He is said to be the only real rival of "Fred" Burns. R. G. Betts, of the Man-

War talk and war taxes make a difference in many things, and wheelmen can this year hardly expect quite the same attention from the general public or to get the benefit from public money expended by highway commissions and park boards that they could reasonably have depended upon had the United States remained at peace.

The revival of 30-inch wheels by several makers recalls certain questions which were argued at length a few years ago. It is evident that in order to preserve the factor of safety, the frame of the 53-inch wheel machine, with its longer forks and lengthened wheel base, must be built proportionately stiffer and heavier than the frame of the 23-inch wheel.

War is a mighty consideration, and many persons believe that if it had not been for the present conflict and its distractions Congress would not have sidetracked the question of bicycle delivery of the mails in rural districts. The idea had appealed favorably to many leading men, and was disapproved of only by a few who surmised that the bleyde might be too much at the mercy of the mails in rural districts. POOR ATTENDANCE AT HORSE SHOW.

THIRD CONSECUTIVE RAINY DAY AT WISSA HICKON HEIGHTS.

Philadelphia, May 26.-The third day of the Horse hickon Heights, opened to-day under more un-favorable weather conditions than those which prevailed yesterday and Monday. Rain fell almost unceasingly nearly all day, in consequence of which the attendance was kept down to the hundreds. To-day's programme was an exceptionally good one, hackney stallions, four-in-hand teams and double teams, with lady drivers, being on the
